Jennifer Donnelly lives in Brooklyn and Callicoon with her husband and daughter. She grew up in New York State, in Lewis and Westchester Counties, and attended the University of Rochester, where she graduated Magna Cum Laude in English Literature and European History.

Jennifer lived in England as a college student and returned after she graduated. There, she developed a lifelong love of London and its people. She credits London, the East End in particular, as the inspiration behind her desire to become a writer.

Before becoming a novelist, Jennifer worked as an antiques dealer, reporter and copywriter.
